ASE PACKAGE GUESTS:

Like you, we have watched this past week as the COVID-19 virus has continued to spread and wreak havoc on the health and safety of people around the world, the financial markets, and on leisure travel. We know many of you are looking forward to your travel plans to Ketchikan this summer and may have questions about your non-refundable deposits and your final package payment coming up on May 1st. We have implemented some short-term changes to our cancellation policy, effective immediately, designed to give you peace of mind as you plan for your vacation.

Should the CDC recommendations for restricted personal travel and social isolation stay in place through your fishing trip and as a result, you decide to stay home, 100% of your deposit and package payment will be refunded to you. This includes cancellations up to the day of your arrival. We want you to book with confidence knowing that your personal health and safety, and that of your travel partners, never has to be balanced out against the financial implications of canceling your trip.

And when you arrive, rest assured that our team will be taking extra precautions to ensure all of our guests stay safe and healthy during their stay. We are currently working with other industry leaders, local, state and federal agencies, insurance companies, and some of our vendors to review our current safety and sanitation program and to strengthen it even further to prevent the spread of communicable diseases.

We know that for many of you, this trip is the highlight of your year. We want it to stay that way and are hopeful current recommendations and restrictions will have their intended effect, allowing health care professionals to put treatment and vaccination protocols in place to protect those susceptible to this virus. In the meantime, please let us know what else our team can do to help you prepare for another successful Alaskan adventure.

Regards,

Russell Thomas
